

As promised, below is my list of key resources to help guide everyone going forward. While I realize that the March 13 PED Alternate Work Expectations letter, and the March 13 PED Guidance for Students with Disabilities were only intended for the initial 3-week closure period, in my view, they serve foundationally as a launchpad for what we anticipate will be the next phase. For that reason, these resources remain at the top of my list.

Please feel free to share. If there is anything else I can do by way of support, please do not hesitate to ask.
